IN AUSTRALIA and South America some native tribes, according to an eminent English anthropologist, Sir James George Frazer, have one language for the men another for the women. In these tribes young boys speak the language of the women, their fathers speak the men's language. This practice is attributed to stealing men stealing wives from their tribes to avoid inbreeding and the kidnaped wives keeping their own language, while the husbands keep theirs.

In some cases that might contribute to family peace.

THE BRITISH sent a commission to investigate "slave labor" in Russian lumber camps. William Lee, labor member of the house of commons, asks the British government why it doesn't send a commission to investigate slave labor in some southern American lumber camps, "where contractors use convicts for $20 a month, or to Sweden, where those that conscientiously object to military service are sent to cut timber." It is easy to see the mote in your Russian neighbor's eye.

SPEAKERS LAUD LEADERSHIP OF PRES. HOOVER

Fess Predicts Reelection in Speech to Young Republicans.

ACHIEVEMENTS PRAISED

Postmaster General Joins in Tribute to President's Service.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON June 11—A prediction of the renomination and reelection of President Hoover was given young Republicans today by Chairman Fess of the Republican national committee

Departing from his prepared speech at the opening of the conference, the Ohio senator said

"When the American people realize he service of Presidetn Hoover, he will not only be unanimously renominated but overwhelmingly reelected"

Senator Fess' declaration was applauded by the conference.

Fess spoke after Postmaster General Brown had praised the President as a party leader and for his "courage, patriotism patience and wisdom"

The meeting was presided over by Robert H Lucas, executive director of the national committee, who said the conference had been called for a general discussion of party matters

After a review of "70 years of national progress" Senator Fess launched into enthusiastic praise of the President, which gave the conference somewhat of a nominating convention atmosphere

The party chairman defended the protective tariff policy of the administration and attributed a sound money policy to Republican administrations throughout the years

Review Hoover's Course

Turning to the present era, he said that Mr Hoover had taken "masterful and heroic steps" at the outset of the depression in calling to the White House leaders of industry and labor and fostering a move to maintain wages

"The need of the hour," said Senator Fess, "is a leader with a vision to comprehend the problem and the courage to withstand the organized clamor

"As was recently said 'We should be thankful that we have at the head of the nation a man who is the embodiment of all that is capable, strong, patient, sympathetic; all that is protective, conservative, purposeful and beneficial.' Such a man is President Hoover

Bad weather in the yellow sea has interrupted communication with the submarine, the admiralty office at London, announced today

"H. M. S. Hermos reported bad weather on Wednesday; parted all communications with the submarine," the announcement said. "but an object believed to be the foundered vessel has since been located. Divers are investigating"

"The commander-in-chief of the United States Asiatic fleet has offered the submarine salvage vessel Pigeon from Tsingtao to assist in the work. The offer was accepted."

Experts said the Pigeon, which is proceeding to the scene of disaster, might render valuable assistance in saving the trapped men because of the modern compressed air equipment it carries for such work.

HOME BOMBED IN OHIO MINE STRIKE AREA

Dynamite Dropped on Roof of Worker's House at Dillonvale.

COUPLE ESCAPES INJURY

Miners at Fairport Stoned by Strikers, Sheriff Reports.

By The Associated Press

STEUBENVILLE, O., June 11—The home of H. J. Malin, trimmer at Dillonvale mine No. 1, of the M. A. Hanna Coal company, was dynamited today, but Malin and his wife escaped injury.

Striking miners were alleged by Belmont county officers to have stoned miners who attempted to report for work at the Fairport mine of the Hanna company.

Sheriff W. J. Yost said the dynamiting of Malin's home and the stoning of miners at Fairport was the first violence to occur in the strike, which has affected 1,000 men in five mines in the two counties.

Tells of Awakening

Malin, who had continued work in Dillonvale mine, said he was awakened early this morning by persons at the rear of his home. A few minutes later the dynamite bomb dropped on the roof of his house, just above the bedroom. The house was damaged extensively

One of the miners at Fairport mine No 6 was cut by flying missiles when several hundred striking miners threw stones at the few men who refused to quit work when a strike was called, Sheriff Howard Duff of Belmont county reported

Only a few workmen had continued in the five mines affected by the strike in which the National Miners union demanded an eight-hour day, abolition of the "average system," and rehiring of miners they said were dismissed because of affiliation with a union.

Sheriff Yost's forces have been augmented by 10 special deputies in an attempt to maintain order.

Immediately after the stoning at Fairport, R. A. Ireland of Cleveland, general manager of the Hanna company, went into a conference with Belmont county commissioners, seeking additional deputies to patrol properties tied up in the strike.

WOMAN WITNESS PUT UNDER GUARD

Mrs. Hamlin in Danger for Part in Clark Murder Inquiry, Is Fear

LOS ANGELES, Calif., June 11—Mrs. Ethel Hamlin, club woman and witness in the case against David Clark, former deputy district attorney charged with the murder of Charles H. Crawford, politician, and Herbert Spencer, an associate, was under guard today after additional threats against her had been reported.

Found wandering in a dazed, hysterical state last night by police, Mrs. Hamlin said a man approached her near her home, showed her a badge and told her she was wanted at the district attorney's office for further questioning.

The man drove her about town, she said, urging her to sign a paper, threatening violence and finally promising to "take care of you" if she would leave Los Angeles until after the trial of Clark. Refusing his requests, she said, she was thrust from the car while it was moving.

BALLROOM ON TOP FLOOR

Showplace Northeast of Here Contained 28 Rooms, Cost $30,000.

Special to The Star

KIRKPATRICK, O., June 11—A monument to a rich man's quest for social gayety was in ruins today following a fire which destroyed the old 28-room Mel Monnett mansion two miles west of here and 10 miles northeast of Marion

Built nearly 50 years ago at a cost of $30,000, the building formed the background for many of the most elaborate social functions staged in Marion county Forming a fitting climax to its early history the house was destroyed early this morning after a dance given last night by Miss Opal Hobson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hobson who purchased the place four years ago.

Started from Cigaret, Belief

Origin of the fire is unknown It is believed a lighted cigaret thrown away by one of the dancers started the blaze It was discovered at 2 a. m. by Mrs. Hobson who was awakened by the noise of the flames. Members of the family were asleep on the first floor of the three-story brick building They escaped uninjured.

Spoken of by residents here as a rich man's folly, the house was one of the show places in Marion county. It was elaborately finished and furnished throughout, from the basement to the large ballroom on the third floor Monnett, socially inclined, had it well staffed with servants and his brilliant dance and dinner parties are still subjects of numerous stories. Seldom less than 100 persons attended these functions of the late eighties and early nineties

Inherited Fortune

A few years after it's construction Monnett who inherited a small fortune was reported to have become involved in financial difficulties As a result the house and its beautiful 80 acre tract of land was sold The property changed hands frequently and four years ago was sold to Hobson who came here from Champaign, Ill. He occupied the house the last two years

Monnett at present is living in California He was a brother of M. J. Monnett a millionaire, who died last March in California

The loss was estimated this morning at $35,000 It is only partially covered by insurance. Neighbors saved most of the furniture

BOOST RATES ON SOME CARS

Schedule for High Priced Autos Increased After Long Debate.

FINAL ACTION NEAR

Goes Back to Senate; Change Would Add $500,000 to Revenue.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—The house of representatives was prepared to pass to the motor vehicle license bill today after it had boosted the rate of increases on high priced passenger cars It voted down an attempt to lower the recommended increases on small cars

Alteration of the rate schedule by the house means that the measure will produce considerable more than $23,500,000 As recommended by the special taxation committee, it would have yielded around $23,000,000 including the revenues from trucks

The additional increase is entirely derived from motor cars which have 32 horsepower and over

New Schedule

The rate schedule approved by the house follows

Cars of 25 horsepower or less $7; more than 25 but not more than 28 horsepower $10 more than 28 but not more than 32 horsepower, $15 more than 32 but not more than 36 horsepower, $25, over 36 horsepower $36 The original rates in the bill on these horsepower classifications were $7, $10, $15, $20 $26

The measure will have to go back to the senate for it made no change in the rates Speedy action is expected to enact the bill because counties and townships must depend upon the revenue for operating expenses during the next two years.

An effort to lower the fees on 12 makes of cars in the first class from $7 to $6 was made in an amendment by Representative J. D. Woehle Democrat of Franklin county This class includes the Ford, Chevrolet Essex Jewett, Marquette Maxwell, Oldsmobile, Overland Plymouth, Roosevelt, Star and Whippet

Cause Warm Debate

The proposal invoked a long debate which revealed a sharp division of opinion. Proponents urged its adoption on the theory that the classification includes many cars owned by persons who cannot afford to pay more taxes. The opponents argued that it would cut off $900,000 in revenues and effect only a paltry saving to the individual owner The amendment was voted down 66 to 49 after a roll call had been asked for

This is the second important bill in the recommended taxation program and is linked with the classified intangibles bill already passed to provide the revenues for the operation of local governments.

Two more bills on the recommended taxation program were

28 St. Mary's Seniors In Graduation Event

Rev. Father R. Lutomski of Detroit Is Speaker as Diplomas Are Presented to Class of 1931; Two Medals and Scholarship Are Awarded.

Building their future on the principles taught them throughout their years of training was the admonition of Rev. Father Reginald Lutomski, O. F. M. M. A., of Detroit in his address to members of the graduating class of 1931, last night at the annual commencement exercises of St. Mary's parochial school held in The Star auditorium.

Twenty-eight graduates were presented diplomas from the classical, scientific and commercial departments of the school by Rev. Father W. J. Spickerman, pastor of St. Mary's parish. Miss M. Nancy Tobin was awarded the gold medal presented the pupil with highest ability, which carries with it a scholarship to Mt. St. Joseph on the Ohio and Miss Eloise M. Murphy was awarded the medal for general excellence.

Orchestra Plays

Music for the program was furnished by McNeal's Concert orchestra. The stage was colorfully decorated with baskets of garden flowers and the class colors of orchid and gold were brought out in the background for the setting. The class motto was Finimus Coepturi and the class flower the sweet pea.

The salutatory address was given by Jack Bintz, class president, and the valedictory by Miss M. Nancy Tobin. Members of St. Mary's Glee club sang "Starlight," by McIntyre and members of the class of 1932 joined the graduates in singing the closing number, "Recessional," by Kipling. Miss Madge M. O'Brien, a member of the graduating class played "Polichinelle," by Rachmaninoff, and the following selections were presented by the orchestra: "Coronation March," Meyerbeer, a group of Sousa favorites, a group of selections by Victor Herbert and "Vim and Vigor," a march by Frazee.

Father Lutomski paid a high tribute to the young men and women, and their parents and the school in making possible the graduation of the class and forcefully stressed the necessity of the carrying on of the ideals which make a beautiful character by the graduates. In answer to the question why Catholics are willing to bear the burdens necessitated by the support of a parochial school, "which" he declared, "every man had a right to ask," Rev. Lutomski said: "The soul of culture is the culture of the soul and the heart of education must be the education of the heart. If man does not recognize that there is a soul to be saved, then all other methods are useless."

"Your own life is in your hands, you can make it a beauty, a joy forever," he said, in addressing the graduates. "You are opening a new book, may every page represent the principles you have been taught in this school."

28 In Class

"Graduates of schools and colleges this year are looking out on a world of turmoil, nations are unsettled, rulers are losing their thrones, new doctrines are being preached everywhere and a new morality is beckoning them," declared Rev. Spickerman in his address. He pointed out the aid the graduate who leaves the Catholic school has today in the definite stand outlined for him in the pronouncements of the church and urged the young men and women to be guided by them.

Members of the class are John G. Bintz, John J. Fye, Donald M. Gunder, Eloise M. Murphy, William J. Watters, John H. Barnhart, Rose Teresa Conroy, Raymond E. Frank, Charles Kelleher, Thomas H. Kerrigan, Joseph A. Moran, Patrick D. Moran, Arthur D. O'Keeffe, Miss M. Nancy Tobin, Miss Kathlyieen C. Baer, Miss Mary M. Bingham, Miss Helen M. Chontos, Miss Isabelle M. Cochran, Irvin V. Courtad, John B. Eby, Miss Pauline E. Frank, Miss Josephine Irvin, Miss Mary E. Meagher, Miss Alberta M. Myers, Miss Alice E. Neidig, Miss Madge M. O'Brien, Miss Alice Jean Paulus and Miss Jean E. Sheehe.

The school is taught by the Sisters of Charity of which Sister Eucharia is head.

Here is THE TRUTH ABOUT WARD'S TIRES

Montgomery Ward & Co. sells two qualities of

THE RIVERSIDE is our first quality tire

It is made by one of the largest tire companies in the world, is built to one of the most stringent sets of specifications in the tire industry. It is one of the best known tires in America, has been sold by Ward's for nineteen consecutive years. Millions of Riversides are in use today. It is backed by a guarantee without limit as to time or mileage.

Other famous nationally advertised first quality tires that equal in quality to our Riversides are much higher priced Riversides. The table at the left gives you a size-for-size comparison.

Having studied that price comparison there remains only one question for you to ask . . . "Are Riverside tires really as good as these other tires with which they are compared?" Montgomery Ward & Co. has been in business for sixty years. It is one of the largest and oldest merchandise institutions in the world. It is the originator of the "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back" guarantee. It depends for its business not only on tires, but also on some 40,000 other items of merchandise which it wishes to sell to you. Isn't it reasonable to believe therefore that Ward's MUST be telling the truth when it makes these direct statements to you?

THE TRAIL BLAZER is our second quality tire

It is equal in quality to ANY of the "second-line" tires offered by the well known tire companies. And as you no doubt know close to 95% of all newspaper advertising of the big tire companies is devoted to their "second-line" tires — and to THESE tires with which Trail Blazers compare—How Trail Blazers Sell for LESS than other second-line tires as the table at the lower left indicates.

This combination of quality-with-lowest-price which is offered by Ward's seems to have made some of our competitors very envious so they are making and publishing misleading and inaccurate statements about "Mail Order" tires. But they do NOT compare their first quality tires with our Riversides . . . and their second-line tires with our Trail Blazers . . . for they know that to do so would immediately indicate how very much lower Ward's tires are priced. So these alarmed competitors have, cunningly enough, priced their "second-line" tires at exactly our first quality Riverside price . . . and then they print incomplete comparisons which are intended to make people believe that their prices, quality for quality, are the same as ours. Well, they are NOT! (See tables at the left.) And the chart directly below shows how Ward's Trail Blazers compare in quality as well as in price with other nationally known second-line tires. Will you please compare the specifications and the prices?

8 WAYS TO COMPARE TIRE VALUE

This Table lists the eight comparisons that were made. Six FIRSTS for Ward's Trail Blazers. And Trail Blazers are also the lowest price

WEIGHT AS A MEASURE OF TIRE QUALITY IS NOT INCLUDED IN THIS TABLE FOR TWO REASONS:

1st, Because no two tires of the same brand and size weigh exactly alike, and 2nd, Because quality of rubber and cotton fabric used, rather than compounded weight after being mixed with other ingredients is the determining factor. Reclaimed or second hand rubber weighs more than new rubber. Tires containing a large percentage of second hand rubber, therefore, weigh more than tires made entirely of new rubber—even though the tires are exactly alike in size—so "Weight" as a standard by which to measure tire quality MEANS NOTHING.

I have personally examined the specifications of the four tires described above and hereby certify that I know these specifications to be exact, accurate and devoid of prejudice.

Loses 16 Pounds of Fat—Eats As Usual

Fat Folks—Here's More Proof—One Bottle of Kruschen Salts and Sixteen Pounds Gone—Eats as Usual——Sleeps Better—Costs 85 Cents

Modern Science now makes it possible for you to easily and what's best to SAFELY obtain a bewitchingly lithe, free-from-fat figure and actually enjoy exhilarated health and increase your attractiveness while doing so.

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast, you can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, fatty meats and pastries.

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs with my first bottle of Kruschen. I feel so good in many ways. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat too. I have told 2 of my friends about Kruschen and they find it as I do."

Unlike other salts, Kruschen doesn't aim to reduce by rushing food through the system rather it's a superbly blended combination of SIX separate mineral salts which help glands, nerves and body organs to function properly—it drives poisons and harmful acid from the body. Kruschen strikes at the usual CAUSE of fat—that's why it's so amazingly successful in cases where everything else has failed!

And just stop to consider how inexpensive Kruschen is—an 85c bottle lasts 4 weeks and offers the same marvelous reducing and health-giving properties which hitherto wealthy people paid thousands of dollars to go to the famous mineral Spas of Europe to obtain. Hennes & Cooper and all druggists the world over sell Kruschen and will give your money back if you don't obtain the results you're after. Adv.

People who like to boss will always lead the world; there are so many millions who don't like to.

SHELTON PREPARES FOR TAX PAYMENTS

Collection Must Be Completed Earlier Than Usual Due to Change.

Provision for a busy season of tax collecting in the next few weeks are being made by County Treasurer Bert J. Shelton as June 20, the deadline for collection, draws near.

Only $59,639.39 had been collected by the treasurer and his deputies yesterday. Approximately $1,200,000 will be taken in during the semi-annual collection, Shelton estimates.

The treasurer's records must be completed earlier than usual this year, as Treasurer Shelton will turn over the office to R G Smallwood, elected to the office last fall, on the first Monday in September.

In cases where taxpayers cannot meet all taxes due, the treasurer is accepting installments on taxes due this June as well as delinquent taxes.

COVER CAR TRACKS TO AID TRAFFIC

East Center Street Improvement To Reduce Traffic Hazard.

The abandoned street car tracks on east Center street which have become a menace to automobile traffic, are being covered with a thick coating of amiesite by employes of the city service department under the direction of Service Director D J Harlow.

The tracks will be covered from Garfield park to Baker street and will be a partial relief from the rough surface of the street. In many places the creosote block, which had been used in paving in between the tracks, had become loose and presented a menace to automobile drivers

The street improvement program, which had been temporarily held up when all of the employes were placed on the south Main street improvement job, has again been taken up Service Director Harlow said today. More than 19,000 square yards of hard surface streets have been given a coating of tar and crushed stone while many of the unimproved streets have been given a coating of oil Money for the improvement is provided from the gasoline tax.

48 PERSONS FACING FEDERAL INDICTMENT

Government Moves To Smash Capone-Formed Bootleg Ring in Missouri.

By The Associated Press

JOPLIN, Mo., June 11—Forty-eight persons, described by government agents as members of an alleged wholesale liquor ring, formed by Al Capone with headquarters at Kansas City, were under federal indictment here today on charges of conspiracy to violate the prohibitory liquor law. The indictment listing 121 alleged overt acts, will be transferred to Kansas City at the close of the present federal court term here this week and that defendants will be arraigned there officials said.

Merl I. Vanderventer, United States district attorney, said he had received information many of those indicted were planning to plead guilty. Those indicted include John Lazia, Kansas City, Democratic politician, June Katherna, transfer company head, and Miss Rosemary Lazia, delinquent tax collector of Kansas City. The Northside Realty company of Kansas City, also was charged in the indictment with a part in the alleged conspiracy.

The indictment charged alleged members of the ring which federal agents asserted operated in seven midwestern states, conspired to manufacture, sell, transport and import liquor, and to induce common carriers to carry and ship liquor without notifying the carriers, chiefly railroads, of the true nature of the shipments.

THE PENALTY OF GRAY HAIR

Gray hair—age—slipping. All these unpleasant ideas seem to go together. Yet it is not at all necessary. Gray hair often comes to a young head and people who have it are neither old nor incapable. But how often you hear people say, "Why, she has gray hair!" and—she is on the shelf.

This penalty need no longer handicap the woman who uses Canute Water. This is a clear, spring-like water, of wonderful properties which actually restore hair to its original girlhood color. No complicated "color plan"; no danger of getting greenish shade when your hair is blonde. Not only the one trial but the one bottle is enough. It really is surprising what successful, gratifying results it gives.

Apply Canute Water yourself, in the privacy of your own home. Many women in town are doing the same thing; they simply do not mention it. You need not mention it either. Just buy a bottle from any good druggist—and get rid of the "age penalty" in gray hair. Canute Water is so safe, so scientific and sure that your dealer knows it will satisfy you; if not, he will refund your money. Sold and recommended by Eckerd's Drug Store or your own druggist.—The Canute Co., Milwaukee, Wis.—Adv.

Tumult Follows Proposal To Reapportion Illinois

By United Press

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 11—Fists flew and books were hurled during a tumultous night session which climaxed a day of strife in the Illinois legislature over proposals to reapportion the state and help Chicago out of its financial difficulties.

Booing, hissing, hurling of law books, and actual fistcuffs directly in front of he speaker's desk, marked last night's session which saw Republicans and Democrats line up solidly against each other over the question of splitting the state into 27 new congressional districts.

The Republicans, who hold a majority of 81 to 77 in the house, had just succeeded in getting a vote on the question of adopting their caucus amendments, when the trouble started.

Thomas J. O'Grady, Democrat of Chicago rushed to Speaker Shanahan's desk, and grabbed the roll call pad. Shouts of "robbers" and "porch-climbers," arose among the Republicans, who jumped to their feet.

"Kick the alderman out," yelled one downstate representative in reference to O'Grady's membership in the Chicago city council.

Several Republicans charged from their seats upon O'Grady, but Doorkeeper F. J. Leonard had beaten them to it and was wrestling with the Democrat for possession of the pad. O'Grady fought back and fists flew freely for a few minutes before order was restored and the pad placed back on the desk.

We'll Live in Clouds by 2031, Architects Say

By International News Service

LONDON — In another 100 years the inhabitants of great cities like New York, London, Paris and Berlin will be living in the clouds.

Such is the opinion of the noted American, German and British architects of today, who were asked by the London Daily Herald where they thought the great architectural changes now going on would lead to in 2031.

K. P. Earnshaw, the American architect, replied:

"In 2031 I visualize cities of 10,000 towers, cathedrals of commerce and domesticity climbing towards the heavens.

"People will leave their flats in one-man airplanes, fly along the streets, and do their shopping where they fancy, be the shop high or low.

"Practically every inch of wall surface below 1,000 feet will be devoted to shops and centers of amusement. The offices will be behind, tucked away in the hearts of the buildings, the homes of the people will be above in the clouds."

Dr. Mendelsohn, the German authority, believes that the buildings of the future will be built almost entirely of glass and steel.

"What walls there are will be scarcely three inches thick, and will probably be constructed of unbreakable etched or frosted glass," he says.

"From the interiors, with their untarnishable metal and furniture built into the walls, noise will be absolutely banished. Even the gyroscopic aeroplanes landing perpendicularly on the roofs will go unheard."

Houses on stilts with no ground floors are foreseen by Howard Robertson, of the British Architectural Association School.

Prof. Adshead, professor of town planning at the University of London, predicts an extensive background system of communication. He says:

"I visualize miles of tunneling, a passenger system of subways similar to that already in existence, under that another system for commercial use, and beneath that a rapid long distance system, which will switch up and down but only communicate with the surface at points widely apart.

"This to some may seem a dream, but it is already a possibility."

AUTO LICENSE TAX BILL BEFORE HOUSE

Bitter Debate Expected Before Vote on Proposed License Fee Increase.

ready for the calendar in the lower branch today. They are the measures establishing elective county budget commissions to control local expenditures and re-enacting the sections that permit voters to authorize levies on real estate outside the 15 mill limitation.

The house taxation committee approved these bills last night. The senate already has passed them. They were recommended by the special legislative committee which drew up the new taxation program.

The budget commission will consist substitute non-partisan commissions of three members to be elected at large in each county. The appropriation of local expenditures and the making of local budgets would be transferred to these bodies from the present county commissioners, except in such instances as the counties, treasurer and prosecuting attorney. In addition the new commissions would have power to approve the use of bond issues.

TO SET TRIAL DATE FOR SLAYERS OF TWO

Oklahoma Deputies Free on Bond After Killing Prominent Mexican Youths.

By The Associated Press

ARDMORE, Okla., June 11—Free under $25,000 bond each, two Ardmore deputy sheriffs today awaited decision of District Judge Asa Walden, who was to set the date for their trial on murder charges growing out of the fatal shooting Monday of two Mexican college students.

Indications were the trial would be set for late this month or early in July.

The officers, W. E. Guess and Cecil Grosby, were bound over yesterday after arraignment before County Judge C. N. Champion that drew international attention and legal talent representing two nations, the state and county.

Meanwhile, the bodies of the slain youths, Emilio Cortes Rubio, cousin of the Mexican president, Ortiz Rubio, and Manuel Gomez, son of a socially prominent Mexican merchant, were enroute to Mexico accompanied by Col. Charles Clowe, a representative of the state of Oklahoma, and a son of Governor W. H. Murray. They were to accompany the bodies as far as the Mexican border.

The bodies were entrained late yesterday following impressive services at St. Mary's Catholic church attended by thousands.

Action of Judge Champion in binding over Guess and Crosby followed the taking of testimony from both deputies, from Salvador Cortes Rubio, another cousin of the Mexican president, who was with the slain youths at the time they were shot.

Guess testified he fired the fatal shots, asserting vehemently that he did so only after the youths had drawn pistols.

Sends Account of Youths' Slaying to Mexican Embassy.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—Consul Vandez at Oklahoma City reported to the Mexican embassy today that the two Mexican students, Emilio Cortes Rubio, kinsman of President Rubio, and Manuel Gomez were shot "without warning" by an Oklahoma deputy sheriff, "fearing for his life."

Valdez, who was ordered to Oklahoma City by the consul general at San Antonio to make an investigation, sent a copy of his detailed report to Mexico City.

in a program not of co-operation, but of destruction," is the warning of A. B. Houghton, former ambassador to Germany.

Mr. Houghton warns the country that it must do its share toward the relief of Germany if other nations remit or suspend reparation payment, since the collapse of Germany would be dangerous to the world.

War is a complicated thing. First, we are told that we must spend 10 billion dollars to help the allies beat Germany. We sent the 10 billions and three million men. The allies did beat the Germans, broke them financially. And now we are told to make other sacrifices, to help Germany recover from the beating that we helped the allies administer.

GERMAN CENSORS of moving pictures propose to prevent "triangle" stories by cutting out the wicked angle which enters married life to separate the other two angles.

That will make life hard for scenario writers.

German censors once held up a picture that showed a railroad wreck because it might cut down the sale of railroad tickets.

Cutting out the wicked angle from the triangle will not, unfortunately, diminish the number of such triangles. They have existed ever since the snake appeared in the Garden of Eden.

Assistant Secretary of War Speaks to Graduating West Point Cadets.

By The Associated Press

WEST POINT, N. Y., June 11—Frederick H. Payne, assistant secretary of war, today counseled 296 cadets being graduated at the United States military academy that "our army is maintained to preserve the peace—not to provoke war."

"Ours is a peace loving nation," he said. "The professional officer above all others should visualize clearly the sufferings and hardships of war, and should be active in studying methods by which such catastrophies may be avoided."

Emergency Program Aids 265,000 Jobless Men

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 11—The nation's emergency highway construction program is four months ahead of 1930 and has furnished employment for about 265,000 men.

The cost of federal aid projects approved thus far in the plan to aid the idle is $241,200,000. It is made up of $112,450,000 regular federal aid funds, $74,500,000 emergency money provided by congress at the last session, and $54,250,000 state funds.

In April this year the federal aid employment totaled 98,000 men against 39,000 in the same month last year. The total of both state and federal aid during April was 265,000.

MAY SLOW MONTH FOR CROPS IN OHIO

Lack of Moisture in West Central and Northwestern Areas Shows Growth.

By United Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Cool weather and lack of sufficient moisture in west central and northwestern Ohio caused crops to make slow progress in Ohio during May, a report of the state department of the United States department of agriculture showed today.

Some frost damage to corn, potatoes, tomatoes and fruit occurred during the last week of May, the report stated.

Ohio winter wheat was in excellent condition on June 1, showing the best condition on that date in 40 years with the exception of 1919, according to A. R. Tuttle, of the Federal Crop Reporting service. On that date there was a crop of 27,980,080 bushels, compared with 28,640,000 last year and the five-year average of 27,000,000 bushels.

Oats condition was reported at 87 per cent, or 13 per cent higher than in 1930. Barley, with a condition of 89 per cent, was higher than average. Rye prospects indicated a crop of 1,106,000 bushels.

Fruit prospects in Ohio were considerably above average, although cool weather during the last week of May with a frost on May 24 cut the prospects of a month ago. Forecasts on apples, peaches and pears promised a better than average crop.

One Killed, One Hurt by Ohio Mine Blast

By The Associated Press

CALDWELL, O., June 11—One man was killed, another was injured critically and 100 workmen escaped injury in a premature dynamite explosion at the Rells Valley coal mine near here today.

Andy Meschirch, 52, of Belle Valley, was killed instantly. Mike Engit, 48, of Macksburg, was injured possibly fatally. He was taken to a Marietta hospital.

The night shift was leaving the workings and the day shift was entering when the explosion occurred. Mine officials said they were uncertain as to its cause.

Although the interior of the mine was damaged extensively the mine proceeded with operations shortly after the explosion.

Miss Coates, former secretary to Bender, said she was ready to testify although she had been advised not to.

Bender was indicted on charges that he embezzled $22,750 of the league's funds in leading the campaign against the Marshall justice of the peace bill three years ago.

SHOCK IS MYSTERY

Officials Believe Explosion Causes Tremor in Ohio Yesterday.

TOLEDO, O., June 11—Although Henry county officers and residents near Malinta, Ohio, agreed generally today in the view that the severe earth shock in that neighborhood early yesterday was caused by an explosion, no one had a clue to the mystery.

The earth tremor was felt in northwestern Ohio and eastern Indiana. There was the sound and a flash and a large hole was found in the ground half a mile from Malnta along a state highway.

Henry county officers today said they had no information as to how an explosive had been brought to that neighborhood. It was apparent that if an explosive was set off there, it was not intended to injure anybody or do serious damage. There are no houses near where the hole was found. Several houses were damaged but not badly.

Daily Proverb—"A good conscience is the best looking-glass of heaven."

Wearing a pair of rear-vision goggles, a citizen of Abilene, Texas, has started to walk backward, around the world. Still, come to think of it, a record like that, if attained, wouldn't be much freakier than some world records which have already been established.

It speaks well for the workmanship of the masons of Rome to note that an aqueduct constructed by them 1,800 years ago has been modernized and is now supplying Athens, the Piraeus and the surrounding country with a copious water supply.

An alien woman held in Denver for deportation has given birth to a girl baby who now faces deportation with her mother despite the fact that she is held to be a citizen of the United States, which suggests the possibility that there is at least one kink in our laws which needs straightening.

Prison officials have discovered that some of the convicts in Sing Sing have been making wine in a tub smuggled from the prison kitchen into the fire house from prunes, apricots, dried peaches and other fruits saved from their meals or purloined from the stores. Home comforts inside prison walls!

It is the contention of a physician and surgeon of Mexico City that the cerebellum isn't necessary to life, his contention being that he has removed that part of the brain from several dogs which are still living. Huh! That's not so much. All of us have heard of cases of humans "utterly devoid of brains" living on and attaining affluence in worldly affairs.

No Need for Misguided Chivalry.

The disturbed mass emotion that follows conviction of Maude Lowther for first degree murder is an unmistakable sign that a great deal of misguided disinterested devotion to the cause of the weak commonly known as chivalry still remains.

Mrs. Lowther, whose guilt, as determined by an Ashtabula county jury, makes her the first woman in this state to pay the death penalty by electrocution, is guilty without doubt. Her crime was premeditated murder of a married woman to clear the path for an illicit love affair. The jury did not hesitate to give a verdict of guilty without recommendation for mercy. If Ohio is to depend on capital punishment, the Lowther case allows no other decision.

There is no call for maudlin sentiment because the criminal happens to be a woman. It would be more pleasant if neither men nor women had to be deprived of their lives for deliberate murder; but if there is to be punishment for crime, and if there is to be capital punishment, both sexes should be treated alike. Devotion to the cause of the weaker sex is unsocial and misguided if it does not discriminate between worthy and unworthy individuals.

Tilby Smith, the object of Maude Lowther's illicit affection, also waits death in the electric chair. It would have been a dangerous miscarriage of justice had his accomplice in the crime of murdering his wife been let off with a lighter sentence than his because she happened to be a woman.

Addressing a policeman, who had arrested and searched a man coming out of a speakeasy, a common pleas judge in Philadelphia stated that there wasn't the slightest justification for so doing; that to search a person on the public highway without a warrant to do so would give the person searched a right to shoot in defending himself from what was an unlawful assault. Isn't a judicial utterance such as this, delivered from the bench, liable to complicate the crime situation?

And Flies Too.

Life grows complicated annually for millions of helpless hay fever sufferers. Choked, weakened, discouraged and wrecked by cruel convulsions of sneezing, they can hardly be blamed for wondering why it should all be—and what one can expect in such a world.

Quite a lot of things, apparently. Man's curiosity takes care of that. For instance, Dr. Salvador Parlato, of Buffalo, New York, has discovered that a harmless appearing little brown sandfly thrashes about in the air so energetically that it loosens little mossy scales on its wings. There's more to the story: the scales fly up the noses of people who suffer from hay fever and make them sneeze just as violently as a puff of timothy hay pollen. That's what can be expected in such a world. More things to worry about and cause hay fever.

The list of aggravators constantly grows larger. English plantin, winter grass, sweet vernal, rag weed, golden rod, cat fur, Ireland grass, June grass, feathers—everything that grows or can shed particles light enough to be [illegible] in the air.

Held in Abeyance.

The proposed lakes-to-the-ocean project, in which the United States and Canada would join forces to open up a vast inland territory to ocean-going vessels, is a prime example of the difficulty of international compromise. For years it has progressed no further than the stage of preparatory negotiation, remaining entirely within the realm of pure speculation—a choice problem for debating teams.

It is probable that when the Canadian prime minister, R. B. Bennett, visited Washington late last fall he took up the problem in his conferences with President Hoover, but no report of what they may have said has been published. Speculation is turning now to the arrival of the Canadian minister to the United States, Major Herridge. It is expected that he will have something to say.

An American-Canadian engineering board has reported favorably on the project on two different occasions in the last decade. An all-American commission also has reported favorably. The international joint commission, permanent body of the United States and Canada on boundary problems, has given its approval. Still, nothing comes to pass. The difficulties of reaching an acceptable compromise have been too great, even in prospect, to permit opening negotiations presumably.

To date, the United States has made the advances; Canada has not committed itself in any direct way. Canadian opponents of the proposal, like American opponents, want the route to be independent of foreign control. If they should have their way, there would be two lakes-to-the-sea projects, one Canadian and one American.

It would be better to arrive definitely at an impasse than to lag along in the present course which leads neither to nor from any settlement.

The defeated Royalist mayor in Solana, Spain, was lynched this week for refusing to surrendr his office to his successful Republican rival. It is greatly to be feared that the Spanish are taking minor political office far too seriously.

Every One an Officer.

The fun of the short-lived "clubs" that constitute a part of boyhood memories was the equal distribution of prestige. There were the president, the vice president, the secretary and the treasurer. No more. Non-office-holding members would have been dissatisfied, so they formed clubs of their own.

Down in Kentucky, Governor Sampson and his officers have copied the idea, with variations. It's to their advantage to get as many in their "club" as possible, so they have exercised an old Kentucky custom and created some 644 colonels during the last three and one-half years. A Kentucky colonel is like a vice president, only more so. He can not possibly get anything more than a title, but he can exert as much influence as he pleases.

People who know say that 1,000 colonels have been created in Kentucky in the last twenty-five years, which may help explain why there are so many of them in story books. Like the gangsters and bootleggers in the moving pictures, they're there because they're everywhere. Incidentally, there is a move afoot among the colonels themselves to create a closed corporation now that every one who amounts to anything anyway has a title. It's no fun just being colonels. They need officers.

One wonders why Ohio governors and their empowered assistants don't go in for the colonel idea, too. Or had it better be division commanders and ward workers in Ohio—performing the same practical function as Governor Sampson's colonels should perform in gratitude, but without the dignified title and mint julep flavor?

The idea is tricky, because all the appointments one administration might make could be canceled by an equal number under the next administration—and pretty soon there wouldn't be any one but officers, and no one to work for them. Then they'd have to become exclusive like the Kentucky colonels, and the governor, who creates them, wouldn't be able to get them accepted any more. A bad situation. Sympathy to Kentucky and a warning to Ohio are in order, unless, of course, it can be proved that being a Kentucky colonel isn't anything but a good, clean joke after all.

"A reasonable amount of learning," Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler is quoted as saying, "must, of course, accompany an education." Isn't Dr. Butler getting somewhat radical in his views?

An Innovation.

All Ohio would have enjoyed seeing the crew race between Marietta college and Washington State university on the Ohio river Tuesday, but only a few thousand were privileged to watch and cheer as the racing shells slid over the two-mile course.

The race was an innovation, but it is in no sense an incongruity. The excellent Marietta crew, which was beaten by only a quarter of a length, the observation train with its enthusiastic spectators, the crowd along the river bank—everything was in the best tradition of crew racing. No one would have suspected it was Ohio's first taste of what is admitted to be a heady sport.

In the East, where shell racing is done often under extreme difficulties, there is an idea that the rest of the country does not care for the sport. The excellent crews from the Pacific coast are still regarded as newcomers, and Marietta college as an inconsequential novelty, no doubt. It will be an important occasion if a racing crew from the inland state ever wins a regatta.

There is no apparent reason why Ohio, for instance, should not develop collegiate racing crews. Reservoirs, lakes and rivers offer courses equal to or better than courses used in eastern events. It would not be difficult to draw crowds, nor to sustain interest from year to year. The too frequent objections, that shell racing is too expensive for small colleges and universities, and that bodies of water are not close enough to permit practice, are not very weighty. If interest ever becomes strong enough they should be overcome easily.

It may be a long time, but the Marietta crew has demonstrated that there are possibilities of new crews appearing in the East some day. Or will it be in the East? May it not be the Ohio, or one of this state's fine reservoirs that will be the scene of future regattas?

Editorial Opinion.

SIMS COMMON SENSE.

Admiral Sims packed conviction into the statement he made for the Transcript. International good will, he declares, is not a controlling reality in world affairs. It is a myth of the world as we wish the world were. Such doctrine, hammered home by crisis after crisis in history, is hard and firm. We are not at the moment making a plea for its acceptance; but we do say that Admiral Sims has expounded it, in this interview, with altogether remarkable force of fact and acuteness of logic. Every word of his statement repays reading. It expresses, within short compass, a lifetime of thought on the part of this nation's greatest naval commander.

The admiral admits that if we could stop economic war among nations, we could stop mortal warfare among them. But of this he has no hope, pointing to history for complete disillusion. Under pressure from business interests, he remarks, not only was our own government violently protesting, almost to the moment of our entrance into the World war, any interference with our lucrative trade in war-supplies to Germany through Scandinavia, but also it is a known fact that until 1917 the Allies themselves were not able completely to restrain a like flow of their own trade into Germany. "If governments in time of war are unable to resist the pressure of commercial interests to trade with their enemy, we can not hope that they will be able to resist these influences in time of peace—the influences which impose restrictions upon foreign trade to the assumed benefit of ours." In a word, tariff-battle will be waged always. Since the economic causes which create war must always operate, dare we ever be left without full means to fight war?

Were it only for the clarification of thought, the improved understanding of issues, readers of all minds regarding the international scene should examine the admiral's argument. The admiral himself, they will be glad to note, states his own firm belief that "all discussions concerning means of achieving world peace, all treaties and agreements on the subject, serve an extremely useful purpose." But even so, his judgment is that no matter how sincere is the determination of those who draw up such agreements to abide by them, these men can not possibly foresee the nature of the crises which may arise to enforce future war.—Boston Transcript.

THE NEW SEA SAFETY CODE.

It is now two years since the new international safety code for shipping was signed by the London convention. It represented the best thought of experts, and was adopted only after the most careful consideration of every phase of the question. The stringency of the rules aroused some opposition among shipowners; but they did not depart sufficiently from the standards agreed upon in 1914 to justify a refusal to abide by them. The matter of load lines was more open to dispute, particularly in the country, where the Plimsoll mark had never been accepted. But the general belief was that all the maritime nations would ratify the convention.

Strangely enough, Great Britain, which has hitherto taken a strong line on questions of this sort, has not yet ratified; and, unless the present government changes its mode of procedure, there is a possibility that parliament may decline to ratify. It has put the two conventions into one bill, applying the provisions to foreign but not to British ships, leaving the latter to be dealt with by the board of trade under the existing law, strengthened by amendments which will allow the board to impose upon British ships the proposed international code.

This seems a breach of faith against which the shipowners' parliamentary committee protests. It is pointed out that the object of the conventions is "to promote safety of life and property at sea by establishing, in common agreement, uniform principles and rules directed thereto," and that every signatory nation pledges itself "to promulgate all regulations and to take all steps that may be necessary to give the conventions full and complete effect."

It is plain that, if one nation hesitates to act, the rest are released from their obligation to do so. Certainly the suggestion that British and foreign ships shall not be treated alike is contrary to the whole purpose of the new code. There are British shipowners who do not like all its provisions; but that is not the point; no single nation can be at once bound and not bound up by the conventions. Perhaps the present government is not so much guilty of a deliberate breach of faith as to a lack of understanding of the whole question.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Result of Neglect.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Neglect in personal hygiene is most undesirable. As a rule, such negligence will cause disease and it always results in some ailment. A disease due to personal carelessness, is known as "Trachoma."

This disease is chronic inflammation of the lining membranes of the upper and lower eyelids. It is highly contagious and may be very serious.

When the condition is allowed to remain untreated, scars form. These scars contract and deform the eyelids. The eyelashes become turned in, scratch the eye-ball and prepare the way for ulcers of the cornea.

Often a false membrane may form over the eyeball, producing marked impairment in the vision. If treated at an early stage, no complications result.

This disease is very common in China Japan, Egypt and Russia. For some reason it is prevalent among the American Indians. It is occasionally found in the southern and midwestern parts of the United States. It is prevalent in the poorer sections of all large cities.

Since it is more common abroad than in this country, all immigrants are examined for this disease. Those found with trachoma are deported.

Trachoma is extremely infectious. It is a serious menace when many persons are huddled together under unsanitary conditions. Lack of fresh air, sunlight, good food and personal cleanliness aid in preparing the way for the spread of the disease.

At one time trachoma was very common in orphan asylums, poor houses and other similar institutions. Due to present knowledge of the need of fresh air, sunlight and other hygienic measures, this disease is now seen only occasionally in North America.

Please, remember that persistent redness of the eyelids, discharge from the eyes or other discomfort requires medical attention. Do not neglect your eyes. They are very precious and can not be replaced.

Old Masonry Days in Granville.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

Some interesting old-time Masonic history is bound up with Center Star lodge of Granville. In 1810 when Granville was not yet five years old, a number of residents petitioned the grand master of the Ohio jurisdiction for a charter for a Masonic lodge. The grand master at the time was General Lewis Cass. The petition was not acted upon under General Cass' administration, but in January, 1813, his successor, Henry Brush, granted the charter, and the lodge began work.

The preliminary meetings of the sponsors of the movement were held in a small upper room in the house of one of them, Elias Gilman, and the lodge's work was continued there for several years. It was but fourteen feet six inches by nine feet ten inches floor area, and brethren can understand with what difficulty operations must have been carried on in it. A single window lighted the room, and for seclusion, a heavy board inner shutter was provided.

Uunder the anti-Masonry movement, the lodge suspended, as many others did, but in 1850 it was revived and rechartered. Through all its early history the records show that its regular meeting date was the Thursday preceding the full moon, obviously so that brethren might have the aid of the moonlight in reaching their homes.

When new working tools were procured at the revival of the lodge, a new table was provided which was made from parts of the one used in the lodge room in Elias Gilman's house, which itself had an interesting history. A few days after the Granville colonists came from Massachusetts, Elias Rose felled a black walnut tree from which he split three puncheons, one of which he gave to Elias Gilman. Each of the puncheons was made into a table top, by use of broadaxe and plane to reduce it to the proper thickness and smoothness. The legs of the table were from portions of the first cabin built on the site of Granville. The twenty-four-inch gauge, gavel, plumb, square and level provided at this time for the use of Center Star lodge were all made of other parts of Elias Gilman's black walnut puncheon table of pioneer days in Granville.

Oersted's Happy "Find."

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

Oersted is one of those figures in science who, by a happy discovery, set the scientific world ablaze. His accidental discovery of the intimate relation between electricity and magnetism made a profound impression upon science, not only of his time, but of all time since he has lived. His experiments afforded a direct stimulus to the creative and memorable researches of Ampere.

Hans Christian Oersted is generally accorded the honors of recognition as the discoverer of electromagnetism. He was born in the Isle of Langeland, in Denmark, on August 14, 1777. Brought up in his father's profession, that of an apothecary, he early showed an avidity for knowledge and learned Latin from a German teacher. He became interested in chemistry and at the age of sixteen went to Copenhagen university to study pharmacy.

Oersted had an acquisitive mind, with a comprehensive point of view. He studied not only pharmacy, but also medicine and philosophy. Recognizing his brilliant scientific attainments, the professor of surgery in the university engaged him as an assistant. His researches in chemistry, which he began to prosecute, bore fruit; and he distinguished himself by making the first classification of earths and alkalies.

When the electric battery became generally known, at the beginning of the nineteenth century, Oersted enthusiastically took up studies and experiments with the alkalies and acids set free by the electric current. The work which he did must have been of a notable character, to impress as it did the state authorities of Denmark. At the age of twenty-four, Oersted was allowed to travel for five years in foreign countries at the expense of the state, with a view to enlarging his knowledge of modern science. Upon his return to Denmark, he was appointed in 1806 professor of physics in Copenhagen university. One general idea, which he stressed in his lectures, and teaching, was the identity of all the forms of nature.

For this wide ranging idea Oersted could find little support by means of experiments. Sixteen years passed; with little or no advance. One day he made the classic experiment forever associated with his name. On his lecture bench there was a magnetic needle supported horizontally. At the time he was experimenting with a galvanic battery, and happened by chance to draw the magnetic needle toward the battery so that the wire and the needle were parallel. To his amazement, the needle swung away from its position pointing toward the magnetic north, and set itself almost at right angles to its original direction. By reversing the current, the needle now pointed in the opposite direction. Thus he had shown that, in some way not known, electricity and magnetism were intimately related to each other.

Ampere, Faraday and Clerk Maxwell all made important contributions to electro-magnetism, following Oersted's lead.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

From Our Readers.

DOESN'T FAVOR COMPULSORY DRILL.

Editor Star—The writer has some pretty definite ideas of the advisability of compulsory military training in the state universities. There is no analogy whatever between West Point and the Ohio State university. At the former place the cadets receive pay, and upon graduation are commissioned second lieutenants in the United States army, but at the latter place they receive nothing. The specific purpose of military training at West Point is to train men to become officers in the United States army. Anything else is only incidental. Military training at the Ohio State university accomplishes no such a purpose. It is useless to expect anybody to do something without compensation. Even the World war veterans were finally given a bonus. If the government wants the students at the Ohio State university to drill, it should pay them to do so. Money spent for this purpose would be well spent.

The late Will Hogg and I were prowling around the lower East Side Ghetto one Sunday morning as a prelude to a kosher breakfast in one of the Delancey street delicatessens. He stopped to purchase a scoopful of parboiled sunflower seeds—a salted delicacy of the section and spread them out on a table while waiting our order. Among them was a folded piece of paper which he started to toss away, then opened it up. Printed across it was "Hello Will—How's everything in Houston?" That was his home city. It was doubtless the legerdemain of some practical joker, but I spent the rest of the day nursing a fully developed sense of the ork-orks. He always thought it a prank of mine. It wasn't.

One of the eerie stories persisting since the Dorothy Arnold disappearance concerns a new and strange white swan in the Central park lake a few feet from the spot on the shore where the Arnold girl was last seen. The swan was not there until the morning following her disappearance. The inference is that she suddenly turned, of all the sillies, into a swan.

A Washington Daybook.

BY HERBERT PLUMMER.

Washington, June 11—Members of the United States senate are constantly on the lookout for better office space and positions on the floor of the senate.

A newcomer must take the leavings, for, as is true in all other things pertaining to the senate, seniority determines where the senator's private office shall be and the position of his desk on the floor.

Consequently, the death of a senator of long standing, or his failure to survive an election, results in a scramble for his office and floor space. And when so many fall by the wayside as they did in the elections of last November, it becomes necessary to revise almost completely the directory of the senate office building.

There are no fewer than twenty-six new addresses in the seventy-second congress. And of this number, ten represent those senators who desired better space than they had heretofore enjoyed.

Senator Morrow, of New Jersey, for example, moves down from the second floor to the first to occupy the suite that Senator Shipstead, of Minnesota, vacated. Shipstead takes over the offices occupied by the defeated Mc... Master, of South Dakota, and Bulow, the in... coming senator from that state, takes Mor... row's old offices.

Senator Black, of Alabama, moves into the Heflin suite and Davis, of Pennsylvania, ge... his offices. Davis' old stand goes to Costigan of Colorado.

Connally, of Texas, went to the suite occupied by Howell, of Nebraska, when the latter decided that the offices occupied by the defeated Pine, of Oklahoma, were the more preferable.

Glenn, of Illinois, moved in where Gould, of Maine, who quit the senate with expressed disgust, held forth, and oddly enough White, who takes Gould's place in the senate, has been assigned the Glenn suite.

Waterman, of Colorado, wanted the space vacated when Goff, of West Virginia, quit the senate, and Hayden, of Arizona, promptly moved to the Waterman suite.

Probably one of the most interesting change is that of Goldsborough, of Maryland, a Republican, who gets the space occupied by Colo... Blease, of South Carolina. This office, whe... occupied by Blease, had as its outstanding mural decoration the stars and bars of the confederacy—the only flag of its kind to be displayed publicly on the hill.

J. Hamilton Lewis gets the offices occupied by the man whom he succeeded—Deneen, of Illinois.

Huey P. Long, governor of Louisiana, will find the suite formerly held by Brock, of Tennessee, waiting for him when he decides to take his seat in the senate.

And Marcus Coolidge, of Massachusetts, takes over the space of Thomas, of Oklahoma, who claimed the suite of the veteran Ransdell, of Louisiana, when he met defeat last year.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and such movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Refuse substitutes.

Friends Upon Lillian to Act as Peace-Maker.

gave a delighted as I said that "for all in the world" I would the telegram, which I had and thrust into Dicky's her his sneer concerning it. amusement in the sound with the realization sickness. But I did not the ultimatum.

asking you to open it, Lillian said. "And don't have me arrested for in- with your private wires. Dicky, with the torn the telegram in his hands and the tears from his once merry blue ged me to tell him what in of Heaven and the re- es to be done. I took pity nd said, 'Leave it to ds to that effect. Then I m into bed with an ice pack at his head and hot water bottle at his feet—leaving a nervous collapse—and taking the torn telegram I carefully opened it, pasted the pieces together and savages every word. I even went so far as to read the damned thing, hoping I could forge your name to a reply as I wouldn't have to disturb you until you got over your first attack of temperamental authorship. You're beginning well, old dear. Not the most accomplished of movie stars—or stalkers—could have staged a more effective stunt. It was a good idea, too, to practice on Dicky. Phil Vertizen is used to temperamental stars and playwrights. He eats 'em alive. But after this stunt of yours I'm beginning to hope he'll find you indigestible. Now if you——"

No Resisting Lillian

She paused for breath, and I put up both hands in token of surrender. From my long experience of her little ways I knew that she was perfectly capable of keeping on with her nonsensical monologue indefinitely until she could reduce me to helpless laughter.

"If you'll only shut up I'll do anything," I said pettishly.

She looked at me reflectively.

"You impose hard terms, Lady," she said. "But I'll be game. Here." She thrust the pasted telegram into my hand and walked toward the door. But I called her back imperiously.

"Don't you dare go away," I said. "You say you've read it. What's it about, the play?"

"And how," she said flippantly. "Better take a whiff of smelling salts before you read it. You'll need 'em."

There was that in her tone which told me that she considered the message an important one and I lifted the pasted paper with misgivings.

"If last two acts satisfactory," I read, "wish to put your play in rehearsal shortly. On way back to New York. Plan reach there Thursday. Coming directly your home with Noel for final reading of play. If not finished, please estimate how long it will take you to finish it and wire me reply this address. Leaving here tonight. Wish to know before leaving. Best personal regards. Philip Vertizen."

I read it through twice with mounting panic and, dropping it into my lap, looked over at Lillian.

"Reach here Thursday," I said. "Why, that's——"

"Tomorrow," Lillian finished, crisply, for me. "Exactly. He will land in our midst tomorrow with both feet and Heaven help the poor sailors who haven't manned the halyards or whatever it is they man."

"But——" I picked up the telegram and held it out. "This says——" I broke off and looked at her smiling, apparently unconcerned face with resentment. "Don't you realize?" I demanded, pettishly—but she did not permit me to finish.

"You're holding that thing exactly as if it were a smallpox placard," she said. "Put it down or give it to me. I'm not afraid of contagion."

She took it from my hands and, spreading it out, read it over, then looked over at me with a provoking smile.

"Well? Have you 'estimated' yet?" she asked.

"Estimated!" I said, dolefully. "You know I haven't written a line of either the third or fourth act. How can I 'estimate'? I don't know whether they will take me three months or three years."

"You mean three days or three weeks," she retorted, and something in her tone terrified me.

"Lillian!" I gasped.

Talked Into It

"Well!" she grudgingly conceded, "we'll say three weeks. That's what you'd better wire him. Thanks for putting the number three into my head. I should have said two or four if left to myself."

"But I never can——"

"Of course you can't," cheerfully, "but you can 'estimate' can't you? And you've a general plan of those two last acts in your head. I've heard you outline 'em myself."

"Ye-es," I admitted, "but——"

"Save me that word, please," she said, impatiently. "What you've got to do tonight and tomorrow morning is to dictate a lot of conversation—It's lucky you've slept all day and Katrina and I'll take turns typing. If you do it hot off the griddle you'll be able to make good on the telegram you're writing old Bill during the next five minutes."

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUDD M. LEWIS

TODAY was Thursday, and the weather is getting warm, and there are lots of snakes and wild strawberries and pollywogs, and a fella could be very happy if he had a banana tree and a peanut tree in his back yard. I got up and let Jubilee down by the rope in his teeth and then I went down and got the pail and went out to milk the dummed brutes, and they had made it up to run away from home and go about a thousand miles and meet the circus and tell the circus man where our town is and he would probaly let them ride on the circus train so they could show them where our town is at. They wanted me to run away with them, but I told them I didn't want but one circus, and if I was to do that the circus my father would give me would make two circuses and if my father gave me his circus first I wouldn't be able to set down to look at the second circus and people aren't permitted to stand up to look at a circus, because it is against the law.

Keebie said if we was to run away to meet the circus she would tell all our fathers and mothers, and Nibs, who hasn't got any father or mother but lives with his grandfather and grandmother, said he was sorry for me. I thought that was funny for him to be sorry for me because I have got a father and mother, when I have always been sorry for him because he hasn't.

When I had strained the milk and fed my fans, it began to rain, and we took our cows out and the girls didn't go with us, because Keebie said they were made of sugar and might melt. Maggie said she was going home because their aunt is there with their baldheaded baby and it was cute. Keebie told me if I would try and be as cute as a baldheaded baby the girls would love me too, and I told her if she was as cute as a snake the boys would be chasing her everywhere. By the time we got good and wet and got the cows out it had stopped raining and we went around to Hoda's to tell the girls we didn't care if they went with us or not, and Maggie's mother had put a washtub on the ground to catch some rainwater, and it was full to the top, and Maggie saw us coming and pretended like she didn't want to have anything to do with us and started off with her nose in the air pushing the baby buggy with the baby setting up in it, and the buggy was in the way so she didn't see the tub and the front of the buggy bumped the tub and the baby done a high dive, and the girls screamed and Maggie pulled the baby out of the tub just as its mother came running and she grabbed the baby with one hand and slapped Maggie as hard with the other that she almost turned a handspring, and then Maggie's mother came running out and told her she couldn't abuse her child and she better take her baby and go home, and they both cried and we enjoyed it very much. Maggie said if her aut had hit her a little harder it would have knocked her nose from her freckles.

At Vespers

Tony Lorenzo's despair when Harriet Noel refused his marriage proposal caused his flight to New York with the prospects of a Broadway play. This financed he becomes an actor, soon being joined by Harriet, who, meanwhile, has left Orchard Hill for the stage. But Tony returns to the village after a brief period of following his dreams as Harriet's protégé under Rex Donovan's management. Then comes Antonia Lorenzo, Tony's sister, who soon deserts her work, Harriet, taking with her her nephew, Pierre. There she reunites with her son, also becomes the actress' protégé. Orchard Hill, where despite the gossip the folks love a true friend, hails Rex Bruce. Pierre, devoted playmate, shares their happiness, shouted when Bruce comes to live with Harriet.

Harriet's Final Cue

HARRIET had told Rex how Rex Donovan, after abandoning her and Pierre, had gone from bad to worse until no producer would trust him in any capacity. Then he seems to disappeared from the theatrical world.

Why he sent the boy Bruce to Harriet is a mystery. Perhaps he needed a friend and himself of a burden. Perhaps some trace of decency—for the little mother mused time to place the boy under better influence. The boy himself could give no one not old he knew what had become of his step father.

Bruce came even at this age was overbearing, insolent and without money when he set him self to gain his own ends. But he quickly learned that one without his stepfather to support him he must exercise judgment in his relations with his foster brother. So he disciplined little Pierre in secret and dared the smaller boy to tell.

On one occasion only there was rebellion sudden decisive and disastrous to the older boy. Bruce mocked Pierre with a disparaging remark about his mother. It was as if he had touched a match to powder and a storm flung with savage fervor by the furious Pierre set his head upon so successfully that he was carried home groaning, minus his assailant following in tears.

The year that Bruce was 14 Harriet was ill nearly all winter and the vigorous self-willed boy taxed her at times almost beyond her strength. When Mr. Gordon, one of our village grocers, offered to give Bruce a home and help him to an education the boy to return to work in the store out of school hours, Antonia insisted that the offer be accepted.

The rest which came with the elimination of Bruce enabled Harriet to rally and, for a while she seemed quite well and strong again. But gradually her illness returned and as her vitality slipped away the spiritual side of her nature became more evident.

The companionship of mother and son became more intimate and understanding. Pierre could not of course realize as Tony did the full import of his mother's failing strength but the lad's sensitive nature responded and he became increasingly thoughtful for her. Vacation time came and they were to gether constantly.

To Antonia, during those slow months of her illness Harriet said many things which she would not have mentioned under other circumstances things which are too sacred for the old scene to whisper even to himself.

But of her approaching death Harriet Noel talked to her old friend with amazing freedom even such a smile. You see, she and Acres explains, "she wants me to understand and accept death not as if it were the end of the play but as if it were merely the actress exit from the stage. I feel she would say exactly as I used to feel in a play when I knew that in another minute or two I would receive my cue to exit and would step from the stage into the wings. Tony and I have played many scenes together on this stage. We have presented in our acting pathos and tragedy with sometimes a little of the melodramatic.

"But more perfect scenes have been those which we have played with my little Pierre. They will not ring the curtain down when I speak my exit line and leave the stage. Dear. And the play will go on dear on and on and on. You and my little Pierre will continue in the scenes together following my exit and off stage you will see me standing in the wings watching you. Your exit cue will come next. Then and then you and I together will watch Pierre."

When it was all over and Antonia sought to comfort little Pierre with the beautiful philosophy which the boy's mother had given him, the child actor said bravely, "I know Father Tony mother explained it all to me before she made her exit. I am an actor, too, as I understand."

Harriet had made Antonia the legal guardian of her son and executor of her will. She left to Pierre a small sum which by careful management she had saved to be given to Pierre when he reached the age of 21 in order that he might have funds for his training in the theater.

Little Pierre wanted to live with Tony but certain of the villagers raised such a protest that Antonia feared they would have him declared by the court incapable of caring for the boy's guardian. When he recalls this the old actor laughs and says, "I was lucky they did not have me at the stake." So a home for Pierre was found with a childless couple whose religion Orchard Hill approved.

And now that his actress mother is gone, said Orchard Hill emphatically, and that horrid actor Antonia Lamont has found that he cannot do what he pleases with her son Pierre Thurston will have a chance."

Old Tony chuckles. "There I was unanimously voted the most disreputable character Orchard Hill had ever produced, their pessimistic prize exhibit to prove the terrible effect of self-living and I might have reminded them that I had been raised exactly as they proposed to raise Pierre. But I did not. And the poor fools never knew how fervently I thanked God that Pierre would have such a good home. The couple was a kindly pair who had always wanted children. The man was a generous provider and his wife a most excellent cook. As for my paternity influence I was confident that Pierre and I could manage somehow."

But the actress mother had impressed herself too strongly upon the sensitive nature of her son for the years to efface her image. To Pierre and his Father Tony her presence continued as if indeed she were in her own words—standing in the wings. Increasingly it dear to Pierre was his father Tony, increasingly dear to the old actor was the son of the woman he had loved.

Many wonderful hours did Antonia spend with Harriet's boy in that little hillside retreat behind the village in the pasture and many times in that sacred place did that speak of the things deep in their hearts of Pierre's mother and her dreams of him, of his coming on the stage and of the future which was to place his name among the truly great actors of his generation.

Old Tony says: "He was a handsome youngster, tall and strong. With his abundant physique health and energy he loved life as he loved the theater. To him life was a glorious play and every person an interesting character acting a part.

He never wavered in his purpose to become a great actor and hoarded his small savings to add to the fund his mother had left in trust for his education for the stage.

It was natural that young Pierre should take a genuine part in amateur dramatics and in this he was so like his actress mother that those who had known Harriet in her girlhood whispered anew the worn old scandals which had never had other foundation than the imagination of little minds.

Poor Pierre, the villagers would say with a doubtful shake of their heads. He's a nice boy, but he can't never amount to much with the start he got from that actress man and that good-for-nothing old actor Tony Lorenzo."

Because Orchard Hill was only a small country village the relationship between Pierre and Bruce Carey continued almost as if they lived under the same roof. Whenever an emergency arose the older boy asserted his authority, and while Pierre outgrew his childish fear of the domineering Bruce his habit of yielding to him remained. This difference in the natures of the two boys was most noticeable to watchful old Tony in the matter of their mutual interest in Ann Davis the little girl whom Pierre at a very early age had decided to marry.

For long before their school days were over Pierre and Bruce were rivals for the favors of Ann.

Research Shows Girlhood Influences Chief Cause of Marital Unhappiness

BY HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor
By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, June 11—An analysis of happiness in the married life of 1,000 cultured American women, based on data obtained from personal physicians, was presented at the Ameriran Medical association meeting today.

It showed that girlhood experiences, taboos and training often thwart or destroy capacity for marital happiness; and that about half of the 770 "typical wives" in this rgoup are unhappily mated. The report was made by Dr. Robert L. Dickinson, M. D., of New York City.

Classed as "Cultural"

"These 1,000" he said, "were what may be called the cultural American type. They were urban, of good family background and education. Married to professional men of moderate income, each with one or two children, they were considered socially normal in the ordinary relationships of work and life.

"They had an average of 161 children per 100 women. The typical woman had her first child at the age of about 26 and wanted more. When the widows, the divorced and the recently wed were excluded, 770 remained as typical wives."

Answers to questions about happiness were distributed about fifty-fifty. Three hundred and sixty-five made no complaints; 30 sometimes answered yes and sometimes no; 375 said definitely that they were dissatisfied.

Secondary Causes

As causes of unhappiness Dr. Dickinson found that complaints about relatives, money, work, management of children and the home were usually secondary. Among the dissatisfied he found in many instances evidence of "some shock in childhood related to the sex side of life."

"The effect of extensive educational and religious training," he said, "is to intensify the cultural taboos of fear and avoidance of sex expression."

Dr. Dickinson said he considers that he has dependable evidence that every woman has the capacity for married happiness, but that this capacity may eventuate either as serene and creative or thwarted and destructive. All is extraordinarily dependent upon her early life.

Of course I've switched to CAMELS
You don't have to look beyond your own intimate circle to realize what has happened.
Everywhere you see evidence of a great country-wide switch to Camels.
That is because the new Humidor Pack performs a real new service for the smoker.
Throughout the nation, literally millions of people have found by actual test that the new air-sealed, sanitary package of moisture-proof Cellophane not only keeps out dust and germs, but also keeps in the rich, mild flavor of the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camels are blended.
To show their real appreciation of the Humidor Pack Camel smokers from all parts of the country write letters telling the advantages of this scientific new wrapping.
Women tell us they carry Camels in the Humidor Pack in their handbags without having them absorb powder and perfume odors. Workingmen say this moisture-proof wrapping protects their cigarettes from perspiration and pocket dust. Sailors are enthusiastic because the damp salt air does not reach Humidor packed Camels.
All real benefits of course, but the chief fact that is causing this great nation-wide swing to Camels is the protection which this air-sealed wrapping gives to the choice Turkish and mellow Domestic tobaccos of which Camel cigarettes are blended.
No peppery dust to irritate the membrane; no dried out tobacco to burn the tongue or sear the throat. Just the fresh, cool mildness of perfectly conditioned tobacco.
Switch to Camels for one day, then quit them if you can.

NO CIGARETTY AFTER-TASTE
Don't remove the moisture-proof Cellophane from your package of Camels after you open it. The Humidor Pack is protection against perfume and powder odors, dust and germs. It delivers fresh Camels and keeps them right until you smoke the last one

No More Hemorrhoids

All Pile Agony Ended Without Cutting or Salves.

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription—HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles. This internal remedy acts quickly even in old, stubborn cases. HEM-ROID succeeds because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this, that's why salves and cutting fail. Henney & Cooper says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

REFORMED, CHRISTIAN NO. 1 BATTLE IN SECOND GAME AND RESULT IS STILL A TIE

Final Score Yesterday 1-1; K. of P. Gets First Win by Beating Excavator.

If someone would toss a coin for the Central Christian No. 1 and First Reformed softball teams to decide which of the two is the better aggregation it would save a lot of time and effort on the part of all concerned. It might not be a very accurate way of deciding the better team but the two aren't getting anywhere deciding it in the regular fashion either so it might be just as well to use the coin method. So far this season the two teams have played two games. The first went seven innings and ended in a 2-2 deadlock. The second, played yesterday, went for nine frames and ended in a 1-1 tie.

First Reformed apparently had the idea when the game commenced of going right out and winning the ball game without a single needless delay. The first man who came to bat poked out a single off Rank, the Christian hurler and the second promptly sacrificed him to second Burklew. Reformed catcher then banged out the second safe hit of the inning and brought in the lone Reformed tally. Rank retired the next two men

Scoring Ends in Third

The Christians managed to get one man as far as second base in the first two innings of play but that was the extent of their efforts in the first two frames. In the third frame Miley, Reformed slabman, issued his first free pass and with it the only run of the Christians. Rank drew the walk and came in a few minutes later when Johnny Rife smashed out a two bagger.

After the Christians scored their run in the third to tie the score 1-1 the game was over as far as scoring was concerned. It was simply a case for the most part of going through the formality of batting and then going back to the bench. No more than four men faced the pitcher in any one inning for either team, excepting the ones in which the scoring was accomplished

K. of P. Wins One

When two teams go through the first few games with no victories to their credit there is always one way to get one of them into the win column. Let them play each other. That's what the schedule makers did yesterday with the General Excavator and K. of P. teams of the Commercial league. The result is that today the K. of P. is no longer a team without a victory. The General Excavator on the other hand is still looking for some one it can beat. The final score of the game was 10-7.

The General Excavator did most of its scoring in the fifth inning when it crossed the plate four times but the winners were more consistent in their efforts, scoring in five of the eight innings played.

SPORTS EDITOR DIES

By United Press

CINCINNATI, O., June 11—Joe Nolan, sports editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer, died of diabetes today at his home in Covington, Ky., across the Ohio river from here.

A crowd of 10,000 paid admission to the first night baseball game played in Atlanta.

Here and There at the Races

WITH two days racing completed there is as yet no double winner. None of the six drivers who piloted horses to victory in the first day's events were able to repeat for victories yesterday. One, Cartnal, managed to pilot his mount home for a first and second in the two days but that is the closest anyone has come to turning in two wins

Myers, Cartnal, Mallow, Beasley, Smart and Fitzpatrick have finished ahead of the pack once each in the two days. Erskine, Critchfield, Greer, Stout, Parshall and Cartnall have come in second in the two days. They still have two more days to race so there probably will be some drivers win at least two and maybe more races.

Patrons at the track (there have been about 4,500 of them in the two days) seem well pleased at the type of racing being offered. So far there has not been a kick registered within hearing of this correspondent. There probably are a scattered few but they are much in the minority.

The barrier system again demonstrated its efficiency in yesterday's events. The starts were faster and for the most part better than those under the former system.

Three events will again be run off for the patrons of the third day's program. Four were originally scheduled but there were insufficient starters for the 22-18 class claiming trot with a $300 purse. There will be a 15 class trot, a 15 class pace and a three-year-old pace

TOO OLD FOR ROBINS HENDRICK FURNISHES NEEDED ZIP IN REDS

Hawleymen Continue "Inspired" Playing by Thumping Brooklyn Club, 10-3.

BY GAYE TALBOT, JR.

By The Associated Press

Harvey Hendrick, the 33-year-old veteran who wasn't good enough to play regularly with the Brooklyn Robins this spring, has become a ball of fire since his recent sale to the Cincinnati Reds. His batting average is topped only by that of Babe Ruth.

Inspired by the first baseman's great .386 clip at the plate, Dan Howley's pupils have won seven of their last eight games against eastern invaders

Hendrick's big bat has helped them win as many games in eight days as they won in the first six weeks before he joined them.

HENDRICK

Hendrick's former mates, the Robins, were the victims of the latest Cincinnati outbreak. While the veteran Eppa Rixey turned them back yesterday, his mates pounded Phelps and Moore for a 10 to 3 victory in the series opener.

The defeat knocked the Robins back into a tie with Pittsburgh for fifth place, ten games from the top, as the Pirates subdued the New York Giants, 5 to 1.

The Giants, in turn, dropped into a tie for second place with the Chicago Cubs, who stopped the Phillies, 3 to 0. Charley Root allowed only four hits to record his sixth victory

Rabbit Maranville, veteran Braves shortstop, enjoyed a field day against the St. Louis Cardinals. He banged a triple and three singles and scored five runs as the leaders went down, 13 to 4.

The Washington Senators finally managed to gain a little ground on the Athletics While rain prevented hostilities in three other American league cities, Walt Johnson's men took their opener from the Cleveland Indians 9 to 4, cutting Philadelphia's lead to four and a half games.

May Trade Players To Bolster Chisox Lineup

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 11 - Donie Bush is getting so mixed up with his player talent hat he may end it all by making some trades.

First and second base are his more important of many problems. Lew Fonseca, recently acquired from Cleveland, is showing signs of wearing out at second base but Lu Blue obtained last spring from St. Louis, is playing the first bag so well that Donie doesn't like to bench him.

Hence, he may trade Blue and put Fonseca on first, if he can get what he wants.

Al Thomas, a pitcher who hasn't returned to form, and Outfielder Carl Reynolds, who has been ill much of the season, are wanted by other clubs. If Donie can swing a satisfactory deal, he may do so.

JOE WATTS FLASHES HEELS TO FIELD OF SEVEN IN 2:18 TROT

2,500 Spectators in Stands for Second Day of Meeting; Peter Shuff Wins Classified Pace.

WITH slightly warmer weather and a much faster track than on the opening day Tuesday spectators at the second day's program of the Marion Short Ship racing meet were treated to classy stepping in the three events of the program. The first race of the day the 21-17 claiming pace was forced to go into four heats to decide the winner. Otto May copped the money by nosing out Peter H. in a thrilling finish. Approximately 2,500 persons saw the three events of the day.

Otto May and Peter H. provided the fans the biggest thrill of the afternoon by staging a beautiful finish in the extra heat of the 21-17 claiming pace, first place going to Otto May with a time for the heat of 2:14½.

Peter H. copped the first heat of the event when he came through with a close victory over Commodore Burns in two minutes, 10 and one half seconds. The heat winner led the field most of the distance but was barely able to nose out the second place horse in the stretch.

Otto May in Second

Cyclone Abbe jumped into the lead from the pole position in the second heat but couldn't match the pace set by Otto May and lost out at about the half way mark. Otto May never lost the lead after passing Cyclone Abbe and romped home an easy winner.

In the third heat Commodore Burns lost another opportunity to cop a heat when he broke on the turn after leading the field to the half way point and Cyclone Abbe was easy victor.

The three best winners jockeyed back and forth for the lead all during the running of the extra heat. Cyclone Abbe took the lead at the start but lost it to Otto May before the first quarter mile mark had been passed Peter H. then stepped out and took the lead by the time the half way mark was reached. Flashing a burst of speed in the second half mile Otto May flashed ahead of the other two horses and took the race. Cyclone Abbe passed Peter H in the stretch to finish second.

Joe Watts Shows Class

Joe Watts got off to a bad start in the first heat of the second event of the day's program, the 18 class trot, but made up nearly everything he lost and finished second in the heat. Norman Peter took the opening heat but was pressed hard by the second place horse.

Norman Peter took the lead in the second heat of the race and looked like a probable winner until he broke and allowed Joe Watts to take the lead. Inbred and Senator McKlyo pressed Joe Watts at the finish, but the leader came in by a fair margin. Joe Watts then took the third heat and the race by out-running the entire field and winning in the final quarter mile, finishing by a comfortable margin. Senator McKlyo lost a possible chance to force the race to four heats by breaking and losing out in the last half mile of the heat.

Peter Shuff Too Good

Peter Shuff of the Estrabrook stables of Cleveland proved himself to be easily the class of the starters in the classified pace by stepping off the first two heats of the race in 2:15 and 2:14½ to lead the field. The time of the first heat was slowed down slightly on account of a spill on the north turn of the track when the sulkies of Surko and McMillen became entangled and caused a spill. Surko was thrown from his seat and his horse made half a lap of the track without any driver but McMillen held his seat. Neither pilot was injured.

The second heat of the event was not much of a race. The winner stepped away from the field almost at will, crossing the finish line several lengths ahead of his nearest rival and with his pilot, Mallow holding him down.

Katherine C and Elizabeth D staged a race all of their own in the third heat after Peter Shuff had been ruled out. Catherine C finally winning out by a scant margin.

MENTAL WIZARD CARTOON SUBJECT

Daniel McCartney, Born in Morrow County, Pictured by Ripley.

Daniel McCartney, known many years ago as the "Mental Marvel of Cleveland," who was the subject of one of Ripley's "Believe It or Not" cartoons recently, was an uncle of W. P. Cass of 464 north Greenwood street. He was also an uncle of H. E. Cass of north of this city. Mrs. E. W. Schreck of 248 Bellefontaine avenue and Mrs. Eva Blayney of 695 Mt. Vernon avenue.

McCartney could remember exactly what he had had to eat each day of his life and could give complete weather reports of each day for more than 60 years. He was born in Morrow county and years ago made frequent trips to this city.

For a number of years McCartney, with O. C. Brown as his manager, toured the state visiting universities and colleges where he gave astounding demonstrations of his mental powers. The most difficult problems he worked without pencil and in a fraction of the time required by the college professors.

Mr. Cass was well acquainted with his uncle and had witnessed many of the demonstrations. McCartney died about 40 years ago at an advanced age.

THEREFORE, be it ordained by the Council of the City of Marion, Ohio

Section 1 That for the purpose of extending the time of payment of Notes heretofore issued in anticipation of the levy and collection of special assessments and the sale of bonds in the amount of $12,811.90 for the improvement of Davids Street by constructing a sanitary sewer therein from Broad Street north to a point about 200 feet south of Bellefontaine Avenue, and by constructing a sanitary and storm water sewer therein from Broad Street south to the Corporation line, and of Patterson Street from Mark Street to Fairground Street by constructing a storm water sewer therein; and of Scranton Avenue from Silver Street to the North Terminus thereof by constructing a sanitary sewer and storm water sewer therein. Notes of the City of Marion, Ohio, shall be issued and the City Auditor is hereby authorized and directed to borrow such sum and to issue notes of the City in the principal sum of $12,811.90, which amount includes interest maturing prior to receipt of the proceeds from the sale of bonds.

Section 2. Said notes to be issued in the principal sum of $12,811.90 shall be in the denomination of $1,000 each, except note No. 1, of which shall be of the denomination of $811.90 and shall be numbered consecutively from 1 to 13 both inclusive. Notes shall be dated July 15, 1931, payable one year from date, to-wit: July 15, 1932, and bearing interest at the rate of five and one-fourth per cent (5¼%) per annum, payable semi-annually, until the principal sum is paid and both principal and interest shall be payable at the office of the City Treasurer, in the City of Marion, Ohio. Said City also hereby pledges itself to levy assessments to pay the property owners' part of the cost of improvements in anticipation of which these notes are issued, and to issue bonds in anticipation of the collection of such assessments. The proceeds of the sale of said bonds and any excess funds above the actual cost resulting from the issuance of such notes are hereby pledged for the retirement of the notes at maturity. The assessments collected for the improvement shall be applied to the payment of the notes and interest thereon until both are fully paid and thereafter such assessments shall be applied to the payment of the bonds to be issued and the interest thereon. In the event that assessments are not levied or bonds issued to provide a fund for the payment of the notes at maturity, a general tax shall be levied on all taxable property of said City sufficient to pay said notes and the interest thereon.

Section 5. That said notes shall be offered to the Trustees of the Sinking Fund in their official capacity and any notes not taken by said Board shall be sold at private sale in the manner provided by law. Mr Clifton Lower,
Lower's Pharmacy,
W Center and Leader Sts.

Dear Mr. Lower:

I greatly appreciate this opportunity of saying a few words regarding the benefit I have derived from taking Diamond Blood Capsules, purchased at your drugstore. I am 20 years old and reside at 467 Bennett st, this city. I was born in Marion. I have a large number of friends and acquaintances that know me, especially at the Commercial Steel Casting Co They remember me as being troubled with anemia with an unsightly skin disturbance, the result of bad blood conditions. Prior to taking Diamond Blood Capsules I spent $500 to $600 with serum treatments, etc., without any special benefit During the last two years my condition was such that I was frequently unable to work for many days at a time. Cliff Walters of Leader st, a friend, directed my attention to Diamond Blood Capsules Three months ago, I purchased my first bottle of capsules at your store. In all to date I have taken three large bottles. Believe it or not, my skin is clearing up My strength is better than at any other time in my life. My blood is back to normal. You have my full permission to use this letter publicly in order that others now suffering may be able to regain their health

Respectfully,
Willard Larcom.

The above letter is an example of the reception accorded our Diamond Blood Building Capsules.

Concentrated liver with all its properties for producing rich new blood combined with cleansing agencies to drive poison and impurities from your system and cleanse your blood and you have the story of Diamond Blood Building capsules

For them, we do not claim they are a "cure-all," but we do claim that regardles of the nature of your ailment, if you are in a weakened condition of any sort or failing in any way, you will not make a mistake in taking Diamond Blood Building capsules

STOCKS VARY IRREGULARLY

Market Volume Remains Light Despite Frequent Dips and Recoveries.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, June 11—Stocks fluttered irregularly in a professional market today, unable to break out of a trading rut either on the frequent dips or recoveries. Group movements were indecisive. Volume continued very light.

Heaviness of U. S. Steel, Westinghouse and a few other prominent issues checked moderately active buying in the early dealings but whenever the slight pressure was lifted the marked tended to advance. Public following for an extension of the rally seemed to be definitely lacking, while the resistance to recent selling kept bears cautious. Bonds were somewhat mixed, with rails improving slowly.

U. S. Steel Slow

U. S. Steel dragged most of the day, ruling a point or so under the previous close. Other soggy spots included Western Union, McKeesport, Real Silk Hosiery, Alaskan Juneau, Allied Chemical and Consolidated Gas. Southern Railway broke three on the dividend news, which was not unexpected. American Telephone, American Tobacco "B," Case, Electric Power & Light, Rock Island, Pacific Lighting, New York Traction issues and Youngstown Sheet & Tube reacted after small gains.

The day's dividend news was largely unfavorable. In addition to the reduction by Southern Railway, directors of the Chicago, Indianapolis & Louisville omitted payments on the common and preferred issues, a substantial majority of which is owned by Southern Railway and Louisville & Nashville. Real Silk Hosiery passed the preferred payment and withdrew the previously declared stock dividend on the common.

Woolworth Extends Gains

Woolworth extended its recent gains on the news that recapitalization of the English subsidiary was adding $78,500,000 to the parent company's surplus, bringing that item to more than $150,000,000. The addition is equal to $8 a share on the stock and Wall Street is wondering whether and to what extent this will be passed along.

Today's meeting of the railroad executives was followed with interest and there was a belief that definite agreement on the size of the freight increase to be requested would be reached. Decision in favor of a 15 per cent rise has seemed likely, since this would boost gross revenues about 10 per cent.

Today in Marion Markets

Groceries, Produce, Meat, Grain, Livestock

New peas and green beans at 15 cents or two pounds for 25 cents, was the only change in vegetable prices quoted by dealers today. The supply has become more plentiful bringing the price down from 15 to 18 cents straight. Other vegetables were plentiful and dealers report sales about normal. New potatoes continue plentiful and the price is holding at from 35 to 50 cents a peck.

A few home grown strawberries were on the market this morning although the bulk of the demand is supplied by southern Ohio and Kentucky berries. The home grown berries on the market today were small although of a good quality, the price asked was the same as for the shipped in varieties. Dealers say with the continuation of warm weather, next week will find home grown berries supplying practically all of the demand.

GRAIN PRICES IN DOWNTURN

Moisture Reports from Canada Cause Decline of Values.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 11—Grains went lower early today, influenced by additional moisture in Canadian drought regions, especially southern Saskatchewan, and by prediction of more. There were also Liverpool reports of increased offerings of Argentine and Australian wheat. Opening ⅛@1 cent lower, wheat afterward held near to the initial limits. Corn started ⅛@⅜ off and subsequently showed but little rallying power.

Downturns in wheat were in the face of pessimistic crop reports from both sides of the Canadian boundary, with the condition of Saskatchewan wheat estimated at 65 per cent. of normal. A Chicago expert telegraphing from Swift Current, Sask., said that west from Regina, most fields were badly blown and as bare as they were last fall. What little wheat was left in that district could make only a meager crop. Northwestern North Dakota and northwestern Montana reported 50 per cent of late down wheat had not yet germinated.

Cable advices were that harvesting of wheat had commenced in Italy, and that within the next two or three weeks it would be active in Spain, Greece, Portugal and Southern France. On the other hand, Russian wheat shipments this week totaled only 48,000 bushels, and it was asserted that the remaining surplus in Russia for export had dwindled to negligible proportions. Harvesting of winter wheat in Kansas was expected to start about June 15 in extreme southern counties. Corn and oats were responsive to wheat price declines.

Provisions rose with hog values.

ONE INSTITUTION TO GET BUDGET BOOST

Orphans' Home at Xenia To Be Given More Money by Legislature.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 11—Providing for the rapid increase in the number of inmates of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans' home at Xenia, resulting from the World war, that institution may be the only state institution or department to receive funds for plant extension from the present legislature.

While the finance committees of the two houses are cutting out virtually every provision for new buildings at other institutions, the senate finance committee has approved the entire budget for improvements at the Xenia home totaling $760,000. The home has a waiting list of about 400 with new applications for admittance averaging one a day, according to the superintendent.

The senate committee, ignoring the house committee's policy to cut salaries 10 per cent, has given its approval to all university salary budgets except Ohio state, which will be considered today. No reduction is anticipated in that institution's personal service budget. No increased salaries are provided but most of the institutions increased their salary budgets to take care of additional teachers made necessary by increased enrollment.

The budget of the welfare department allocating $1,000,000 for repairs and replacements at the various state institutions was approved by the senate committee. No new buildings are provided for, these to be taken care of in the proposed $7,500,000 bond issue to be submitted to the voters for approval this fall.

Starland, 919 Elms St., St. Paul, Minn.

Good—they've got to be good!

A gallant army of 125,546 NURSES [IN THE U.S.A.] help fight your battle in the cause of Health

What modern civilization owes the trained nurse can't be figured in dollars. Tireless, patient, efficient, she has earned one of the highest places in public and private esteem. We couldn't do without her—why not tell her so?

They have a way with them, too!

Not only do you trust them, but you like them. And it's the same with a good cigarette.

Smokers stick to CHESTERFIELD because they find them dependably milder. You can smoke as many as you like.

And CHESTERFIELD smokes more evenly. Credit that to the ripe mild tobaccos and the pure imported cigarette paper.

Every CHESTERFIELD is made to smoke milder and to taste better.

More men and women every day are finding this out!
